

Join National Museum of Health and Medicine Organ of the Month Club!

August 2012: The Kidneys

Your body is an amazing work of art! Each month, the National Museum of Health and Medicine will focus on a different organ. In August, learn how your kidneys function and diseases that affect the kidneys. Explore anatomy, medical imaging techniques used to examine the kidneys, and pathology. After a brief lesson, attendees will create their own visual representation of the kidneys.

All participants will receive a wearable button featuring the Organ of the Month after each program.
Attend each program and collect them all!

When: Friday, August 17, 2012, 10:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.
