

National Museum of Health and Medicine

Visiting the Museum

We are very excited about your visit to the National Museum of Health and Medicine! Please share the following requests with your group before your arrival -- for your protection and for the protection of the artifacts and exhibits:

- ✓ No eating, drinking, chewing gum or eating candy in the gallery.
- ✓ No running or rough playing when in the museum. The museum artifacts are irreplaceable!
- ✓ Stay with your group! Your docent will make sure that you see everything, and if you listen carefully, you may learn some really cool facts about the objects on display!
- ✓ Do not lean on the exhibit cases or use the exhibit cases as writing surfaces.
- ✓ You are welcome to take photographs, but no flash photography! Bright lights will damage the artifacts.
- ✓ Do not touch any of the objects!
- ✓ Keep your voices down so that other visitors can enjoy the museum.
- ✓ You can find the museum on Facebook at www.facebook.com/medicalmuseum, Twitter at www.twitter.com/medicalmuseum and Instagram at www.instagram.com/medicalmuseum. Tag the museum with your photos and use #NMHM and let us know about your visit.
- ✓ Museum staff may take photographs of visitors and groups for publication. If you or an individual in your party would prefer to not be photographed, inform your docent or an NMHM staff member.
- ✓ Ask lots of questions! Our docents are full of fun and interesting information.

Thank you for visiting the National Museum of Health and Medicine.